CELEBRITI VISITS

We never know who is going to stop by the MAD offices. Just the other day, we were visited by Meinhardt Raabe, the coroner from The Wizard of Oz, in town to promote his book Memories of a Munchkin: An Illustrated Walk Down the Yellow Brick Road. It was a delightful afternoon, until Meinhardt (never one to break character) accidentally pronounced Production Artist Doug Thomson dead!

READ IT AND CHEAP

It's an extremely disturbing thought knowing that I can save $1.50 each issue by subscribing to your magazine. When I go to buy it at the store the Fold-In has already been done or the pages are bent and torn. Please convince my mom to buy me a year's subscription.

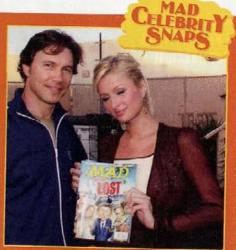

Andrew U'ren, Portland, OR

Drewski — You claim to love our product, and yet, you want to take money out of our pockets by subscribing at the discounted price. We know it's tempting to save a few bucks, but understand that the staff has some necessary expenses and every little bit helps. For example, Editor John Ficarra needs to landscape his summer home, Senior Editor Joe Raiola has a couple of show dogs that require a full-time grooming staff, Associate Editor Amy Vozeolas needs to finish gold-plating her SUV and Associate Editor Dave Croatto is thiiiiiis close to completing his Fabergé Egg collection. Think of all those you hurt when you try to scrimp a little! — Ed.

AN INTERN FOR THE WORSE

We want to give a special shout out to our summer 2005 interns! Thanks to Carolyn Abram, Lisa Durr, Megan Ganz, John Gentile, Michael Lore, Tara Marks and Sumukh "Bob" Torgalkar. Our bathrooms have never been cleaner!

Please find my Celebrity Snap with the top celebrity from your Nifty Fifty list — Paris Hilton! I've been reading MAD ever since I learned how to read and stole my older brother's MAD. Recently I caught up with Paris after her press junket for the film House of Wax.

Edward Sartori, Los Angeles, CA

Better off Ed — First of all, you get major props for getting the notoriously camera-shy Paris Hilton to pose for a photograph! But answer us this one question, what kind of model can't keep her freakin' eyes open for one lousy picture? What, was she exhausted after a long day of doing nuthin'? Regardless you're going to get something that Paris will never have: a tree three-year subscription to

STAMP OF DISAPPROVAL

MAD fans unite! For nearly 10 years I've tried to convince the United States Postal Service to produce a stamp of Alfred E. Neuman, but to no avail. Now, as MAD approaches its 500th issue, scheduled for August 2008, it's time MAD fans everywhere, well, at least in the good ole USA, unite and bombard the USPS with letters suggesting a stamp of Alfred. Let's let them know that we need a stamp that says, "What, Me Worry" and "Cheap" under the denomination. What a collector's item! And with less and less people writing letters, they can use all the help they can get. The USPS needs three years lead time to produce a stamp, just a bit more time than needed to deliver a letter, so get moving! Send letters to: USPS, Stamp Services, 1735 N. Lynn St., Suite 5013, Arlington, VA 22209 6432.

Dr. David Lubin, Tampa, FL

Lube Job — We haven't heard from you since issue #456! Where have you been? We applaud your Alfred stamp idea and urge everyone to get writing. But you raise another excellent point! People are writing fewer letters these days. Well, most people at least — catch our drift, Doc? —Ed.

ETS WARPED

MAD was a sponsor at this year's Van's Warped Tour and, for some reason, they gave us access to the bands at the August 13th show on Randall's Island, NY — which just happened to be the hottest day of the year!

We took this as the perfect opportunity to have a marathon session of MAD's 2-Question Interviews with some of the bands!

QUESTION ONE: What's the name of your latest CD?

MIKE: Panic - P-A-N-I-C.

QUESTION TWO: I'm sorry, can you repeat that please?

MIKE: Panic.

Thank you for taking part in MAD's 2-Question Interview!

QUESTION ONE: What's the one question every journalist asks?

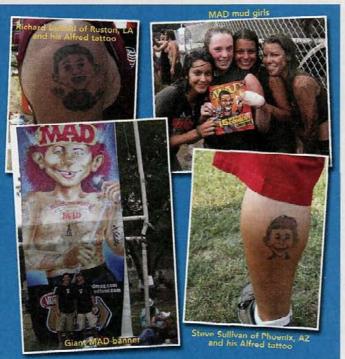

JAMES: Where did the name of the band come from?

QUESTION TWO: So aren't you glad the interview ended before we could ask it?

JAMES: Absolutely!

Thank you for taking part in MAD's 2-Question Interview!

JAMES: It was the best interview I've ever done!

Matt Watts and Tom Gryskiewicz, guitarist and drummer for The Starting Line

Darran Smith and Kris Coombs-Roberts.

As we mentioned above, it was a sweltering day in NYC and it's possible we started having heatstroke, because we asked the same two questions of our last band!

QUESTION ONE: What's the one question every journalist asks?

PATRICK: Where did you get your name!

QUESTION TWO: So aren't you glad the interview ended before we could ask it?

PATRICK: (laughs) Absolutely!

Thank you for taking part in MAD's 2-Question Interview!

Our last 2-Question interview took place with a nearby guitar amp:

QUESTION ONE: Excuse me, mister, c-c-c-ould you please give us some water?

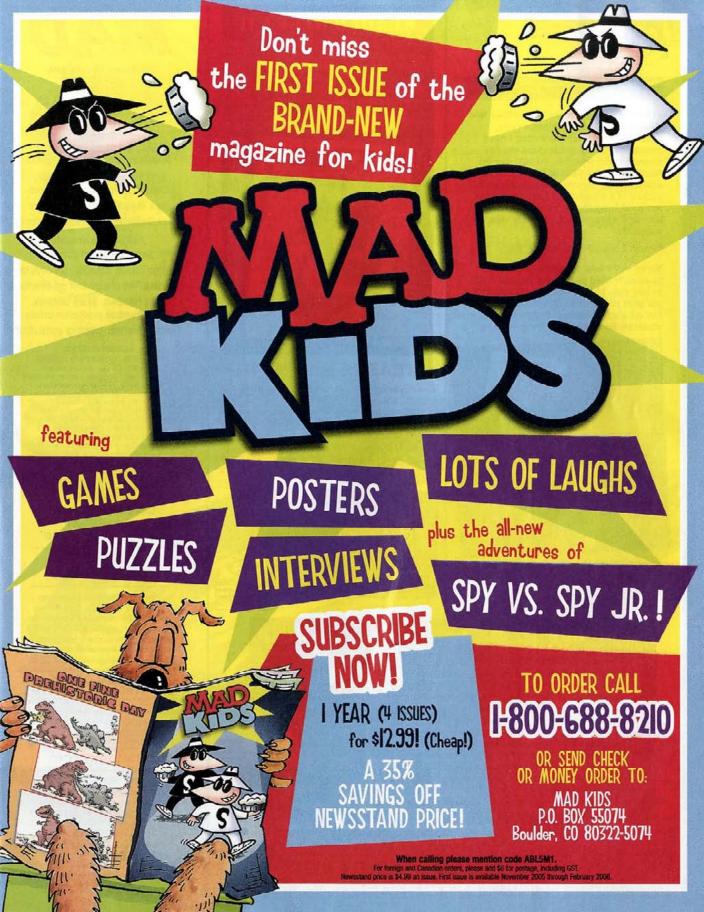

AMP: Silence

QUESTION TWO: Seriously, everything's fading to black. What kind of heartless monster are you, man?

AMP: Silence

We thank all of the bands for taking the time to participate in MAD's 2-Question Interview! And thanks for nothing, stupid unhelpful guitar amp!

Guarantee: MAD's 2-Question Interviews are genuine and presented verbatim!

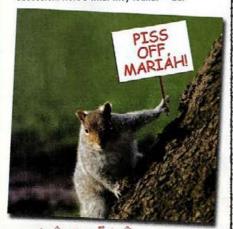

Make a Dumb Wish Foundation

I have a request for the Make A Dunk Wish Foundation™. All of my friends (yes, although I'm a MAD subscriber, I have friends) in my 8th grade class say I'm obsessed with squirrels. I would like the Make A Dunk Wish Foundation™ to officially acknowledge my obsession and print a picture of a squirrel. This would give me top most bragging rights at school — although a teacher will probably take the magazine!

Mariah Emanuel, Jeannette, PA

Manny — We here at the Make A Dumb Wish Foundation™ loved your request because it was so very dumb! But we wanted to do more than just grant your wish. So we sent our interns to find out what the squirrels thought of your obsession. Here's what they found! —Ed.

On October 14 at Lowe's* Motor Speedway, Kasey Kahne and the No. 38 Great Clips Dodge team will roll out "covert" tracks tactics as they share the NASCAR Busch Series race day spotlight with Spy vs. Spy Jr. from the upcoming MAD Kids magazine.

Starting in November, Spy vs. Spy Jr. will leap forth from the pages of MAD Kids in a continuing story of pint-sized enemies who fight their never-ending battle with cream pies, slingshots and water balloons. MAD Magazine is using the No. 38 Great Clips/Spy vs. Spy Jr. Dodge Charger to help launch the new MAD Kids for children ages 6 to 11.

The No. 38 Great Clips/Spy vs. Spy Jr. Dodge Charger marks the second time Kahne has teamed with MAD Magazine for a paint scheme special. Last season, the original Spy vs. Spy made an appearance aboard the No. 9 Dodge at the NASCAR Cup Series race in Atlanta.

ON THE PERTS Stupidest Holiday Movies

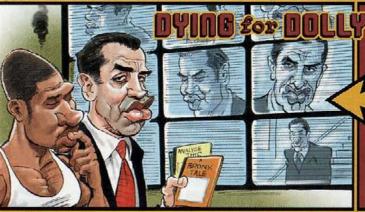

For each frame of film she appears in, every one of the 20,000+ hairs covering Foxy Loxy's body had to be digitally rendered individually. Conversely, only one of out every 20,000+ people will find this piece of trivia interesting, since Disney has issued a variation on the same dull factoid for every computer animation movie they've released since Toy Story.

Disney wisely rethought a Chicken Little promotion with KFC, fearing that children might think the title character was being cooked in the chicken restaurant's deep fryers. Instead, they opted for McDonald's, whose signature McNuggets are unrecognizable as chicken in look, texture and taste.

The animators based Chicken Little's sense of helpless panic on what they witnessed walking through the studio hallways the day Disney's deal with Pixar ran out.

While Usher's tattoos have been digitally concealed throughout the film, a team of special effects experts were unable to similarly conceal his inability to act.

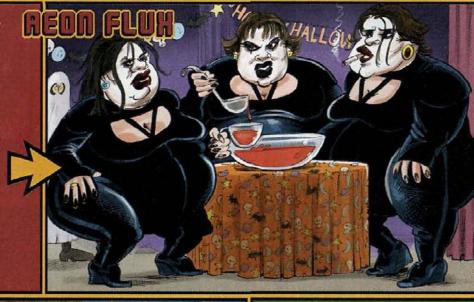

In order to research his role as a mob boss, Chazz Palminteri watched all his other films where he plays a mob boss.

Director Ron Underwood's other recent projects were the Vegas gangster biopic Stealing Sinatra and the mobsters-in-space fiasco The Adventures of Pluto Nash. Since 2002, Underwood's inflicted more damage on the Mafia than the U.S. Justice Department.

Though Charlize Theron suffered a severe neck injury while performing a complicated stunt, she maintains that the most frightening aspect of doing the film was appearing at science fiction and comic book conventions promoting it.

Fans of the original series may complain that Aeon Flux now wears a more modest outfit than her animated counterpart's black leather straps and boots, but producers insist the change wasn't made to avoid an NC-17 rating — they claim the new costume is based solely on a sense of decency towards everyone who'll have to see all the fat Goth chicks wearing it come next Halloween.

The film takes place 400 years from now in a disturbing future where — judging by Charlize Theron's stringy, greasy locks — civilization has lost the scientific formula for shampoo.

Sure, online dating is popular. But how can you be sure that the delightful person you've been I.M.ing with for the past three months isn't a deranged lunatic who will tear out your throat and jump rope with your intestines the first time you meet them? It's not easy. The best you can do is be on the lookout for subtle signs of potential trouble before your first encounter. For instance, the signs mentioned in...

FROM RUSSIA WITH LOVE

Electronic Arts • PS2, Xbox, GameCube • November

The Hype: Set in the original 60s Bond era, the game features movie-based missions as well as original, action-intensive sequences, a broad and deep variety of gameplay, fully-integrated vehicles, social multiplayer experiences, gorgeous women and classic, upgradeable weapons and gadgetry with modern mechanics.

The Snipe:

Now that MGM has sacked him, buying this game is the only way Pierce Brosnan will ever play Bond again.

MUSIC

ORAL FIXATION 2 SHAKTRA

The Hype:

The Latin sexnot releases the English language version of "Fijacion Oral," her all-Spanish album from this past June.

The Snipe: It's nice that she's translated the album to English and all, but it won't make any difference to the 15-year-old boys who watch her videos on mute anyway.

BOOK

THE TRUTH (WITH JOKES)

Dutton • $25.95 • 336 pages • October

The Hype: This book picks up where Lies and the Lying Liars Who Tell Them leaves off. Franken takes on the second Bush administration and their right-wing compadres with facts, research and comedy!

The Snipe: Unless you're among the handful of people actually listening to Air America Radio, this book will be the only source for Franken's opinions!

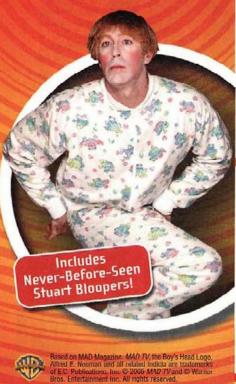

and a 15-part collection of "web documentaries."

The Snipe: The special feature we were really hoping for was that Internet footage of the chubby kid having a lightsaber battle all by himself.

The funniest, most outrageous sketches from seasons 8, 9 and 10 in a 3-hour Special Edition DVD.

GAME

PATH OF NEO

The Hype: Set in the Matrix film universe, The Matrix: Path of Neo will enable players to actually play as "Neo," the central character, and relive his most important and memorable scenarios from the complete film trilogy.

MUSIC

BO BICE'S

Harper • $18.95 • 224 pages • November The Hype: The book features inside jokes. memorable moments.

things you may have missed and commentary from the show's creator, animators and voice-over artists it's so sweet!
